LE VESCONTE. (Commander, 1816. f-p., 21; h-p., 32.)

Philip Le Vesconte is son of Philip Le Vesconte, Esq., who lost a leg in Earl Howe's action 1 June, 1794, and died Purser of the Royal William, flag-ship at Spithead, 25 May, 1807. He is brother of Commander Henry Le Vesconte, R.N.

This officer, entered the Navy, in 1794, as Fst.-cl. Vol., on board the Saturn 74, Capt. Jas. Douglas, and on 13 July, 1795, was present as Midshipman in Hotham's partial action with the French fleet off the Hyères Islands. He removed, in 1797, to the St. Alban's 64, Capt. Fras. Pender, and, after serving for two years in that ship on the Channel and Halifax stations, joined the Lynx sloop, Capt. Alex. Skene, attached to the force in the North Sea. On being received into the Monarch 74, Capt. Jas. Robt. Mosse, Mr. Le Vesconte bore a part and was wounded in the battle of Copenhagen, 2 April, 1801;[1] in consequence whereof he was promoted, 23 May following, to a Lieutenancy in the Glatton 50, Capts. Wm. Birchall, Wm. Nowell, and John Ferris Devonshire, stationed in the Baltic, where he remained until April, 1802. His next appointment was, 6 Sept. 1803, to the Magnificent 74, Capt. Wm. Henry Jervis, in which ship, when forming part of the in-shore squadron off Brest, it was his misfortune to be wrecked, during a gale of wind, 25 March, 1804. On being restored to liberty after seven years of captivity, we find him joining, in the course of 1811, the Leopard 50, armée en flûte, Capt. Wm. Henry Dillon, and Elephant 74, Capt. Fras. Wm. Austen. With the latter officer he served in the North Sea and Baltic until May, 1814; in Aug. of which year he obtained an appointment to the Queen 74, Capts. Lord John Colville and John Coode, flag-ship for some time of Rear-Admiral Chas. Vinicombe Penrose. He returned home from the Mediterranean in Dec. 1815; and has since been on half-pay. His promotion to the rank he now holds took place 7 Nov. 1816.

Commander Le Vesconte is at present Vice-Consul at L'Orient. He is married and has issue. Agents - Pettet and Newton.

5. Charles Le Vesconte #243839, b. 13 December 1781 in New Church, Plymouth, Devon, England,¹ occupation British Navy, d. October 1795 in Antigua, West Indies.¹ .

Fought under Admiral NELSON at Trafalgar.

LE VESCONTE. (Commander, 1828.)

Henry Le Vesconte is brother of Commander Philip Le Vesconte.

This officer entered the Navy, 5 June, 1790 [ED. note... seems young...], as Fst.-cl. Vol., on board the Cambridge 74, Capt. Boger, bearing the flag at Plymouth of Admiral Graves. He was discharged, in the following Jan.; but re-embarked, in March, 1793, on board the Duke 98, bearing the broad pendant in the West Indies of Commodore Geo. Murray, and between the close of that year and the receipt of his first commission, bearing date 27 Oct. 1800, was employed on the Home, North American, and Cape of Good Hope stations, in 12 different ships, in the capacities of Volunteer, Midshipman, and Acting-Lieutenant. Joining, then, the Jamaica 24, Capts. John Mackellar and Jonas Rose, he shared in that vessel in the action off Copenhagen 2 April, 1801; and on 21 of the following Aug. took command, in conjunction with Lieut. Jas. John Chas. Agassis, of the boats of a squadron, and gained the praise of Lord Nelson for his gallantry and zeal at the capture and destruction, with but slight loss to the British, of six flat-bottomed gun-vessels which had been driven on shore near St. Valery, and were protected by the fire of a body of military and five field-pieces.[1] He invalided from the Jamaica in Jan. 1804, and was subsequently appointed – 16 June following, to the Naiad 38, Capts. Jas. Wallis and Thos. Dundas, under the latter of whom he fought at Trafalgar, and on that occasion assisted in extricating the Belleisle 74. from a perilous position near the shoals, whither she was fast drifting – 5 July, 1808, after seven months of half-pay, to the Raven, sloop, Capt. Jas. Grant, on the Mediterranean station – 1 Feb. 1809, and 18 March aftd 1 Aug. 1811, to the Ville de Paris 110, and, as First-Lieuteiuint, to the Rodney and Milford 74's, flag-ships in the Mediterranean of Admirals Lord Collingwood and Thos. Fras. Fremantle – 1 Feb. 1812, to the acting-command, for a few weeks, of the Epervier sloop, on the same station - and, afterwards, to the Queen 74, bearing the flag, also in the Mediterranean, of the late Sir Chas. Vinicombe Penrose. He attained his present rank 5 Jan. 1828; and has since been on half-pay.

Commander Le Vesconte is Senior of 1828. Agents - Messrs. Stilwell.

LE VESCONTE. (Lieutenant, 1841.)

Henry Thomas Dundas Le Vesconte entered the Navy 19 May, 1829; passed his examination in 1836; and, joining (as Mate of the Calliope) in the China war, assisted at the destruction of a 20-gun battery at the back of the island of Anunghoy, 23 Feb. 1841[1] – served in the boats, on 13 March, at the capture of several rafts and of the last fort protecting the approaches to Canton[2] – was similarly employed at the capture of that city on 18 of the same month[3] – and, during the second series of hostilities against it, was afresh engaged in the boats at the destruction, 26 May, of the whole line of defences, extending about two miles from the British factory. In consequence of these performances he was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant by commission dated 8 June, 1841.[4] His appointments have since been – 16 Oct. following, to the Hyacinth 18, Capt. Geo. Goldsmith, in the East Indies – 15 June, 1842, to the Clio 16, Capts. Edw. Norwich Troubridge and Jas. Fitzjames, under whom he was for upwards of two years employed on the same station and off the coast of Africa – 17 Dec. 1844, as Senior, to the Superb 74, Capt. Armar Lowry Corry, attached to the Channel squadron – and, 4 March, 1845, to the Erebus discovery-ship, Capt. Sir John Franklin, in which he is at present concerned in a renewed attempt to explore the North-west Passage through Lancaster Sound and Bering Strait. Agents – Messrs. Stilwell.

Charlotte is a descendant of the LE VESCONTE family originating the Channel Islands. Many of her ancestors had distinguished British Navy careers, including her older brother, Henry Thomas Dundas LEVESCONTE, who died on the ill-fated Franklin Expedition to the Canadian Arctic in 1846.

Lived in Belleville prior to marriage.

1881: Widowed, lived with daughter Charlotte and her husband James Stafford KIRKPATRICK in Kingston. The KIRKPATRICK family of Kingston has many connections to the "Old Stones" of that town!

She married William Macaulay #75532, 04 January 1853 in St. Thomas Anglican Church, Belleville, Hastings County, Ontario,^{10,6} b. 09 August 1794 in Kingston, Frontenac County, Ontario (son of Robert Macaulay #75529 [Lumber Merchant in Willsbrough, New York] and Ann Kirby #75530), baptized 07 September 1794 in St. George's, Kingston, Frontenac County, Ontario,^{11,12} occupation 1819 Minister of Hamilton Township (Cobourg), occupation 1823 - 1870 Rector of Picton, religion Church of England, d. 02 March 1874 in Picton, Prince Edward County, Ontario,¹³ buried in St. Mary Magdalene Churchyard, Picton, Prince Edward County, Ontario.¹⁴

William:

Educated at Bishop Strachan's School at Cornwall.

William received a grant of 400 acres of land near the present church of St. Mary Magdalene in Picton. He was ordained in 1818 after education under Reverend John STRACHAN and at Oxford University. He used his own monies to finance the church of St. Mary Magdalene, which was started in 1825, as well as donating land for the nearby District court house and gaol.

He was Rector of St, Mary Magdalene for 47 years, and the primary influence for naming the settlement "Picton", after distinguished British soldier Sir Thomas PICTON. In 1837, the settlement of Picton was incorporated with the adjacent community of Hallowell to the west.

He had no children by his first wife, Ann Catherine GEDDES

1861: Lived in Picton with second wife Charlotte and daughter, Charlotte

1871: Lived in Picton with Charlotte Macaulay, 58 (second wife) and daughter, Charlotte Macaulay

Extracted from the " Historical Atlas of Hastings and Prince Edward Counties", 1878; H. Belden & Co., Toronto.

"As Mr. Macaulay was the one who names the present Town of Picton, and the founder of the village of the same name, now a part of the town, a short sketch of the rev. gentleman might not be uninteresting. He was one of a family of several sons, whose father settled in New York previous to the Revolution, and being a man of considerable prominence among the English, their abandonment of that city was the signal for his departure for Canada. Here he engaged in mercantile pursuits, and for many years after taking up his residence in this country, he was the principal contractor for supplies to the troops in and about Carleton Island and Kingston. He amassed a great fortune in trade at Kingston, where he died in 1800, and his business was subsequently carried on by his family with great success. The sons were among those exerting the highest influence of any family, or any individuals in the country, in public or political affairs. One of them was the Hon. John Macaulay, a man whose name was closely identified with all public questions of the day. Among the many honourable and highly important positions filled by one or other of the brothers was that of Member of the Legislative Assembly, Chaplain to the Legislative Assembly, Provincial Secretary, Surveyor-General, Inspector-General, and various other positions of almost equal importance. At the time of incorporation of Hallowell, one of the Rev. Mr. Macaulay's brothers was Chaplain to the Canadian Houses of Parliament. The result of all this was that in spite of the protests of the people, the place received the official name of Picton, (as above stated); and although Mr. Macaulay evinced in this matter a very determined disregard for the wishes of his parishioners, still it must be admitted that in all matters of public concern - whether of Church or State, or municipal affairs, or public or private undertakings for the advancement either of his country or his own particular parish, he was beyond question a most enterprising and public-spirited citizen, and one to whom the present town of Picton undoubtedly owes much of its material prosperity, as well as its name."

of Trinity College, Toronto, for The Kingston Historical Society, Kingston, Ontario; The British Whig Publishing Company Limited 1921.

*William Macaulay was born on August 9, 1794 and was educated at Dr. Strachan's school at Cornwall, and at Oxford. As already noted in speaking of Stoughton, he received a grant from the S.P.G. and was under the care of Dr. Strachan at York in the intervening period. On his ordination in 1819 he was appointed to the mission of Hamilton Township, the original of the parish of Cobourg. (Scadding Collection, B 116, T.P.L.) From 1823 to 1870 he was Rector of Picton (S.P.G. and Synod Reports.) He married, first, August 24, 1829, Ann Catharine, daughter of Dr. Geddes, who left no children. Annie, a daughter by his second wife, married in 1876 James Stafford Kirkpatrick. (Chadwick, Ontarian Families.)
