The Evening Journal (Ottawa, Ontario), Friday, October 6, 1893

"Trodden to Death"

"Deseronto, Ontario,-- October 5. -- Early this morning Stephen BADGLEY, of this place was found dead on the roadside, near Marysville. He had gone out to exercise a colt in a buggy, and was found with his breast crushed in, lying in the ditch, with the horse standing on him. The animal had evidently backed into the ditch, and in trying to get him out Badgley had fallen under his feet and was trodden to death. The deceased was 74 years of age and an old resident of Deseronto. He leaves a wife and grown-up family."

John:

Historical Atlas of Hastings and Prince Edward Counties, 1878; H. Belden & Co., Toronto.

"John A. Sprague is a resident of Big Island, lot No. 4, south front, and married to a daughter of R. Badgely, also of Big Island.

"The Sprague family were originally from Long Island, New York. A branch of the family also resided in Rhode island, and the name of at least one of them is familiar even to Canadians, and a household word among Americans, viz., Senator Sprague of Rhode Island, who as Governor of that state, was one of the most influential and powerful men in the whole Union during the late civil war.

"The Sprague family in Canada comprise among their members many of the most influential citizens in Prince Edward County, where they were among the earliest settlers, and where a large number of them still reside.

"Mr. Sprague's mother is a sister of the Rev. Cyrus Allison, so well and favourably known throughout the country as one of the oldest and ablest Methodist Ministers in the District. It was from him that Allisonville, a post village in the township, received its name.

"Mr. Sprague, though still a young man, has already occupied prominent positions in public and municipal affairs - first as Councillor, afterwards as Deputy-Reeve and Reeve, he is at present engaged in farming, and owns and cultivates 150 acres of excellent land. he is an active, energetic, and rising young man, and a leading spirit in the Reform Party."

"The Drowned Boy. - Alexander FAIRFIELD, the boy who was drowned above Coilnsby [sic] on Monday evening, was a nephew of Col. FAIRFIELDS's, and was staying at his grandfather's, Mr. H. FAIRFIELD, with his mother.

"They were on a visit from Petroleum Centre, Pennsylvania, where they have been residing for the last five years. He was fishing off the wharf opposite Col. FAIRFIELD's place, and must have dropped in without making any alarm, as if he had done so he must have been observed as the parties in the house were all around. As soon as he was missed, the neighbours all turned out and assisted in searching for the body, which, however, was not recovered until Tuesday afternoon. The boy is a nephew of M. D. H. PRESTON, of Napanee, was about ten years of age, and could not swim."

HE DECEIVED A PRETTY GIRL
BELLA BADGLEY RUINED BY A MARRIED MAN

The Duplicity of Daniel Hickey, Who Is Alleged to Seduced a Fifteen-Year-Old Girl Under Promise of Marriage - A Sad Story.

By his duplicity and deceit Daniel Hickey has ruined the life of a young and pretty girl and brought misery to a happy home. The story of his Rascality as told by the witnesses at the police court this morning was a terrible indictment, showing how ruthlessly a wicked man can trifle with and deceive a young and innocent girl. Hickey is the man who was arrested in Dunnville ten days ago on a charge of bigamy. That charge could not be preferred. After Seducing Belle Badgley, under promise of marriage, he took her to Dunnville, and represented that they were married, He put off marrying her from time to time, still professing to love her but he deceived her. His arrest checked his career of infamy. He promised to wed the girl, notwithstanding that he has a wife and three children in Toronto. He has a sneaky-looking face, and is not good looking.

He was arraigned on the double charge of abducting the girl and seducing her. To both charges he pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by a jury.

Crown Attorney Crerar - The Gentleman is evidently familiar with the practice of the court.

When Mrs. Badgley, the mother of the girl, stepped into the box, she was pale, and appeared to be ill. A chair was placed in the witness box for her. She was well dressed. She swore that she lived at 107 John street north. Her daughter, Bella, Was 15 on December 4, 1890. The prisoner came to board at her house in December, and remained there until May 6. He worked at the Sawyer-Massey factory. He had told the witness that he was twenty-three years old when he asked for her daughter's hand in February, and she suggested that he was too old. Hickey spoke to her about marrying the girl several times, but she always objected, saying that the girl was too young. On May 6 when she came home Hickey was in the hall with her daughter, They said they were going out for a little walk, and the witness objected; but they went just the same. They did not return that night, and she has not see her daughter since.

Hickey - When I asked for her daughter in February she said "Yes."

Mrs. Badgley -- I always objected on the ground that she was too young. I told him to wait.

Hickey -When I asked her she said "Yes." We sat down and she told me all family affairs. She afterwards turned against me.

On one occasion Mrs. Badgley accused the prisoner of being married. Hickey held up his hands and said, "The Lord may strike me dead if I am married."

Mr. Crerar - If he is married he will get struck in another way.

James T. Badgley testified that he saw the prisoner with his daughter Bella at Dunnville on the night of May 8. When they met Hickey represented to him that he married the girl in Hamilton. On being asked to produce the marriage certificate he said it was in his valise at his boarding house in Hamilton. Badgley believed Hickey's statement. The prisoner and the girl lived together as man and wife when they were in Dunnville. Hickey introduced the girl as his wife to several relatives. The prisoner lived with the girl up to the time of his arrest. He produced a letter dated April 28 written by his daughter asking his consent to her marriage with Hickey. The following marriage notice was printed in the Dunnville Reform Press on May 13:

"Married, on May 5, by the Rev. Mr. Bland of St. Paul's church, Hamilton, Mr. D.J. Hickey, of that city, to Bella, second daughter of Theodore Badgley of Dunnville."

Hickey had the notice published because he wanted to send copies of it to some friends in Toronto. After Hickey's arrest on a charge of bigamy the witness had a conversation with him. The prisoner said:

"That charge is false. I was never married until I married your daughter."

Hickey's victim, Miss Badgley, is a handsome girl, with piercing black eyes and a perfect complexion. She wore a dress of dark material, a lace shawl, and a large hat which was very becoming. She wore a veil. It was a terrible trial for her to tell the story of her ruin. With tears in her eyes and in a trembling voice she swore that she was fifteen last December. She first met Hickey on Dec. 9. The first time the prisoner paid her special attention was on New Year's eve. He proposed to her in February and represented that he was free to marry. He told her that he was twenty-three years old. The prisoner won her esteem and affection, and she agreed to marry him. Her mother once consented to the marriage, but she afterwards changed her mind, and objected to her going with Hickey, because he drank. Hickey solemnly declared that he was not a married man. On the night she went away her mother objected to her going out with Hickey. The prisoner said to her, "We will go out and get married." When the witness asked Hickey to get a marriage license he took her to a drug store and made an excuse that it was too late, the place being closed. Hickey suggested that they wait until morning, and he took her to a hotel, where they spent the night. The following day, May 7, they went to Dunnville. The prisoner promised to take her to the States and marry her there. During the time that they were away they lived as man and wife. She was taken away from her home against her mother's wishes. The prisoner never told her that he had a wife and three children in Toronto. Hickey seduced her in March last after promising to marry her.

After the recital of her ruin the poor girl burst into tears. The deceitful lover felt his position keenly and wept. Since the discovery of Hickey's deceit. The girl has lost all love for him. After giving her evidence the girl buried her face in her hands and cried bitterly. The meeting between her and her mother was most affecting.

Hickey had nothing to say, and the magistrate committed him for trial. Chief McKinnon has evidence that the prisoner was married in Toronto, by Rev. Mr. Williams, and has a wife and three children there.
