Generation One

1. Johann Friedrich Christian (Bangert) Bongard #318163, b. c. 1719.

   He married Anna Magdalena Deusinger #318164, b. 1725, d. 1776.

   Children:

   2. i. Conrad (Johann Konrad) Bongard #159185 b. c. 05 December 1751.

Generation Two

2. Conrad (Johann Konrad) Bongard #159185, b. c. 05 December 1751 in Lohrhaupten, Main-Kinzig-Kreis, Hesse, Germany, occupation c. 1770 Linen-Weaver in Lohrhaupten, occupation 1776 - 1783 Artillery Officer, Hessian Army, occupation 1784 Assistant Surveyor, Upper Canada, d. 23 January 1840 in North Marysburgh, Prince Edward County, Ontario.
"Johann Conrad Bangert" was born about 1751 in Lorhaupten, Germany, and a linen-weaver by trade, and conscripted into the "The German Auxiliary Forces" (Hessians) under the command of the British Army. He was trained as a cannoneer with the Hesse-Hanau Artillery (and consequently lost his hearing). The unit departed Germany overland to Portsmouth, then by ship to Quebec City. After the surrender of Burgoyne in 1783, many Hessians were taken prisoner, and shipped to camps as far south as Charlottesville, Virginia. BONGARD escaped, and made his way back to Quebec .

   At that time, the Hessian unit was to return to Germany to fight in European conflicts, BONGARD requested to stay in Canada, was refused, and subsequently deserted his unit.

   "Pioneer Life" suggests that he moved up the ranks to Colonel due to his skills as an artillery officer. Other sources suggest that he only attained the rank of "Captain."

   The Bongard Family Pioneer Life on the Bay of Quinte, 1904; paged 141 - 146

   "In the days before New York city and the territory of the Empire State were known under their present designation, the commercial metropolis of the colony on Manhattan Island was named New Amsterdam. It was largely inhabited by Dutch Protestants and Huguenot exiles, and among the former was the family of Bongards, to which Conrad Bongard belonged. He lived in New York city, but had gone to Germany and served as an artillery man. Returning to New York he went to Philadelphia, and became a prominent citizen. It was here that he had to determine on which side to range himself in the Revolution. It did not take him long to offer his services to the British, to whom his military experience in the German army made him an acquisition. He insisted on raising a battery of artillery, and was given a commission for this preliminary service, which was an earnest of more to follow. His skill as an artillery officer soon won him promotion, and before long he was in command of his battery, with the rank of colonel. He served throughout the war , and at its close threw in his lot with the such noted United Empire Loyalists as Joseph Allen, who had been a successful businessman in Monmouth, New Jersey, but whose property had been plundered by the Colonials, and who had several narrow escaped on his wat to New York to join the band of refugees under Major Van Alstine.

"It was during his residence in Philadelphia that Conrad Bongard married a widow named Carr, who accompanied him to Canada. As a field officer, he was entitled under the government, grateful for his services, to five thousand acres of land. He settles himself at Adolphustown, and as it was usual for field officers to sell grants of land to other loyalists of inferior rank in the army, Colonel Conrad disposed of some tracts of land in both North and South Marysburg. His second son and namesake , Conrad, married into the Dulmage family and cared for his father on the old homestead, where the Pioneer passed away about 1850.

"Although loyal to the British Crown, Conrad Bongard never lost his attachment to the Fatherland. It was more from choice, probably, than necessity that he continued to speak English with no great concern as to its accuracy in any respect; and this was characteristic of his children after many years of association with those who spoke English.

"Conrad, son of Conrad Bongard, served through the war of 1812, attaining the rank of Captain; he drew a pension until his death. His children are widely scattered: John resides at Picton; J. Wilson, at Greenbush; Ezra, at Norwood; William W. at Port Milford; Abraham, at Prince Albert; Conrad, at Toronto; and Jacob, at Utica, New York.

"David L. Bongard is a prominent descendant of the Pioneer. Although still a relatively young man he has been county treasurer for over fifteen years; and for some twenty-one years, has been license inspector, discharging his duties faithfully and well. He ranks among the foremost men, not only of Prince Edward, but of the entire Bay of Quinte district.

"James J., son of Frederick and grandson of Conrad Bongard, married Isabella Ostrander, and with his two sons, Arthur and Frederick, resides on the old homestead, beautifully located on South Bay, which has been in possession of the family since it was granted by the Crown. He has been an active citizen, sitting for some years as a member of the township, council and still takes a keen interest in political affairs, being a staunch supporter of the Conservative party. His children have inter-married with prominent Prince Edward families; the two son, above names, having both married daughter of the famous old pioneer Church family."

Please note that there are a number of errors and omissions in the family genealogy as supplied in Pioneer Life. I have noted these, where found, but should you find any glaring errors, please let me know!

Obituary of Conrad Bongard, Senior (1750 - 1840)
Christian Guardian, 15 April 1840, page 100

"Died, at his residence in the Township of Marysburgh, district of Prince Edward, on Wednesday, January 22nd, 1840, Mr. Conrad BONGARD, Sen. In the 90th year of his age. He was born in Hanau, near Frankfort (sic), Germany, and was in early life instructed by his parents (who were members of the Lutheran Church) in the principles of the Christian religion. In 1776 he was impressed for a soldier and sent to England; never to revisit the land of his nativity. The pain we feel, when first transplanted from our native soil - when the living branch is cut from the parent tree - is one of the most poignant emotions which we have to endure through life. There are after griefs which wound more deeply, which bruise the spirit and almost break the heart, which leave behind them ineffaceable scars; but seldom, perhaps, do we feel more keenly the want of tender, wakeful, and constant affection than when first we leave the haven of home and are, as it were, pushed off upon the ocean of life. To these feelings are added, in the case of the soldier, physical hardships and numerous privations, which were severely felt my Mr. B. in his first days of service and distinctly remembered through life.

"Mr. B., with the Regiment to which he belonged, being destined for American service, was conveyed from Portsmouth to Quebec. He was attached to a regiment of Artillery and placed under General Burgoyne, at whose defeat he was made prisoner at Saratoga. His honesty was strict, almost proverbial; while the advancing columns were traversing fields strewed with the dead and wounded of the enemy and abundant opportunities of enriching himself with the spoils of a fallen foe were afforded, he was never known to appropriate to his own use the most trifling article. He was soon exchanged; continued to serve till the termination of the war in 1783; came to Canada and married in Quebec; obtained lands in Adolphustown where her resided for a time; and then removed to Marysburgh where he lived till his death.

"He was a member of the Lutheran Church while its ministers continued in the country, and afterwards became a regular attendant upon the Methodist ministry, for whose use, in conducting divine worship, he prepared a house which is still appropriated to the same worship. His attachment to religion was always evinced by his liberal support of the Gospel, and his steady attendance upon the institutions of divine worship. But it was not till (some?) time previous to his departure that he clearly and satisfactorily experience the power of godliness.

"Mr. B. had the satisfaction of living to see all his children walking in the paths of religion. He left nine children, 84 grandchildren and 65 great-grandchildren, in all 158 now living . His widow, in an advanced age, mourns his departure."

Peter:
Pioneer Life on the Bay of Quinte, 1904; pages 69 - 71

"The name of Rose is one with which Canadians are familiar. There are various families of the name distinguished in different ways in Ontario; but there is none better known, or more highly esteemed than the family descended from Peter Rose, who settled in Prince Edward County in the early part of the last century.

"Peter Rose knew a time when it was hard to maintain communications with the outer world. Usually in the fall of the year he joined with neighbors, who were hardly near, but far apart, in chartering a small vessel, in which they would set sail from South Marysburg for Kingston, carrying with them the produce of their farms, for which they bartered for clothes, boots, harness, etc. And sometime when they were in sore need of shoes, but found it difficult, or perhaps impossible to go so far, they rested content with some ill-tanned leather from the hide of an ox which their own hands had killed.

"The settlers were to a large extent deeply religious. The expression is used advisedly; not superficially, but in the core of their nature, they were religious, and none more so that Peter Rose. Not wholly, perhaps, but in some appreciable measure to their early training was it due, that the Rose family has taken a leading position in the religious world. At the Pioneer's humble home, the travelling preacher, who had in these times to cover large tracts of country, was always sure of breathing the atmosphere congenial to his pious feelings; a hearty welcome greeted him, and a cherry God-speed sent him on his way rejoicing.

"Peter Rose was politically in unison with his neighbors in cherishing a preference for British institutions, and (though as peaceably disposed as any member of the Society of Friends) as good a loyalist at heart as any among them. And this trait is quite as characteristic of his descendants, as are the religious tendencies which they so markedly inherit. A glance at the genealogy, will show with how many of these old loyalist families the descendants of the Pioneer have become related by marriage. The Pioneer himself, who married twice, had for his first wife, Winnifred Burns, and for his second, Christiana Bongard. And glancing down the long list of descendants, the following are some of the names which will be recognised as standing high, if the expression may be used, on the honor list. These are the Ackermans, the Minakers, the Welbanks, the Scotts, the Dulmages, the Whattams, the Hudgins, the Bongards, etc., a galaxy of worthy and honored names."

The Williams Family, (Pioneer Life on the Bay of Quinte, pages 901 - 906)

"The pioneer of the Williams family in Prince Edward county - William Phippin Williams - was born in the old city of Bristol, in the west of England, in 1766. He put the Old Country in his debt before migrating to one of her oldest and most important dependencies by learning the trade of ship carpenter; and at twenty years of age he put himself behind the wooden walls of a British warship. Those were the days when the bravery of the individual seaman had free scope, and was not engineered and buttressed as it is in modern warfare; the days when the breeze was the only motive power man had learned to harness; the days of flint-lock muskets and fighting hand to hand, stripped to the waist, and when what now would be looked at upon as a very small piece of ordnance was considered a monster of destruction. But the times were stirring to the last degree, and young Williams had his full share in them. As ship's carpenter he ranked as petty officer and had many duties and some privileges not accorded to the ordinary seaman. He want as far as India, sailing the Southern Seas.

"For six years he followed the sea, when he received his discharge, and in 1792 came to Canada. Landing at Quebec he worked for a time at his trade. Tales of the farther west reached him in the Fortress City, and he prepared himself to visit it. First he went propelled by French-Canadians in a batteau to Montreal, camping by night after the fashion of the red man. From Montreal he pushed on to Kingston, where he again fell to work at his trade, and was engaged in the construction of the "Royal George." [in 1812, the largest warship on Lake Ontario. Ed.] It was only a short trip into Prince Edward county, and here he became impressed with the charms not of the district only, but even in a greater degree by those belonging to the daughter of an early settler, Conrad Bongard, who was of German descent, and as an efficient artillery man in the War of the Revolution rose to the rank of colonel in the British army, and joined the United Empire Loyalists, but who prided himself on preserving the customs of the Fatherland so far as was possible. He never cared to speak English intelligibly, and it is remembered by his descendants how Mr. Williams used to tell that the absorbing topic of conversation at the wedding breakfast was concerning the best way to make sauerkraut!

"After his marriage the Pioneer went to work for a time at Clayton, N.Y., but returned to locate on lot 50 of the first concession by the Bay side in North Marysburg. The quondam ship carpenter went into farming with his accustomed pluck and zeal. By and by he had a large family, the ideal of an early settler's family in respect of both being large, and showing an almost equal division of the sexes; and in course of time he had a good clearing and became one of the most successful settlers in the district. He died in 1843. Two of his sons married into the Minaker family; Elizabeth, his eldest daughter, married Gilbert Storms; Harriet and George both married into the Collier family; and John P. married Lucy Cannon. Of his sons, William and Conrad served for many years in the township council. Conrad at one time engaged in the shipping business. This, under increasing years, he relinquished to devote himself entirely to his farm, which overlooks the Bay. Levi, a grandson of the Pioneer, has been Warden of the county; he was also a candidate for the local legislature. Peter W., another grandson, was also Warden of the county.

"Margaret Williams, daughter of the Pioneer, married Ebenezer Washburn Sherriff, who was the youngest child of the Rev. Robert Sherriff, one of the earliest missionaries of Upper Canada. The Rev. Robert Sherriff was a Scotchman by birth and parentage, and belonged to a family which possessed valuable property in both Scotland and Ireland. He was himself comparatively well-to-do, and it was entirely owing to his zeal for mission work that he emigrated and chose Canada as his field of labor. For many years he was a Gospel teacher in the wilds of Ontario, and it was not until his family approached maturity that he settled down near Bloomfield. He was twice married, first in Ireland to Agnes Nelson, a niece of the famous Admiral, and second to Mrs. Mary Adams, nee Washburn, of the pioneer Washburn family. He died universally lamented at South Bay in 1821.

"Alexander P. Sherriff, son of Ebenezer W. and Margaret William Sherriff, sailed for seventeen years as master and mate, and then settled down in Picton , where he followed his trade as carpenter, residing on Gladstone street in one of the handsomest homes in Picton. He married Marietta McCrimmon, daughter of John McCrimmon, who settled at East Lake. Her grandfather, Duncan McCrimmon, was a veteran of the War of 1812, who rendered distinguished service at Lundy's Lane, and received a pension from the Imperial Government and grants of land. His children married into may prominent families and are highly respected.

"Peter A. Williams, third son of William Williams and grandson of William P., was born in 1847 in North Marysburg, and reared on a farm. Since childhood he has suffered from hip disease and lameness consequent thereon, but he has led a very active and useful life. Having mastered the shoemakers trade he established himself in business in Picton in 1876 on Main Street, near the Globe Hotel. Subsequently he acquired several pieces of real estate, including the shop he occupies at present. In 1884 he was elected to the council of Picton, and subsequently served as Deputy Reeve and also as Reeve. Having purchased a farm in North Marysburg he removed to Cressy, and was soon elected Reeve of that township. Later, upon returning to Picton, he was elected to the County Council and also re-elected several times, being chosen as Warden of the County in 1904. Mr. Williams is a good neighbor and public spirited citizen and adheres to the Methodist Church."

The Late Conrad Bougard [sic]

Conrad Bougard [sic], who recently died at Picton aged 97 years was the eldest child of Conrad Bougard [sic], who assisted surveyor Collins in locating the lots bordering on the bay west of Kingston, and who subsequently settled in the township of Marysburgh. The late Mr. Bougard [sic] who lived for many years on the farm that he cleared "the primeval forest" from, and which bordered the bay a few miles west of Cressy. He was a zealous Methodist and staunch reformer. Only a short time before he had laid his burden down he was taken to church in Picton to attend the usual Methodist love-feast. 1880: Family lived in Marquette, Marquette County, Illinois, USA
1887: Family moved to Sault Ste Marie, Michigan

"Memorial Record of the Northern Peninsula of Michigan," The Lweis Publishing Company, Chicago, 1895.

"Wayne Hursley, who is serving as deputy Collector of Customs at Sault Ste. Marie has made his home in this city since 1887. He was born in Jefferson county, New York, on the 5th of October, 1837 (1832?, ed.) His paternal grandfather belonged to one of the Mohawk Dutch families that settled in eastern New York, and the maternal grandfather was a native of Connecticut, whence he emigrated to New York about 1821. The Hursleys followed the lives of fishermen on Lake Ontario to some years. The father had three brothers and one sister. One brother went to California, where he reared a family, and the others all died in New York.

"Wayne Hursley had but meager privileges in his youth, educational or otherwise. He attended school only through the winter season, when manual work was limited, for in the summer months he was employed earning his own livelihood. In connection with his brother, Jay Hursley, he came to the West, and for two years they engaged in fishing on Lake Superior, during which time they made their headquarters and home in Sauly Ste. Marie. In 1865 they transferred their operations to Hancock, Houghton county, where they continued until 1869, when they removed to Marquette, spending two years there also in the fishing business. They then took up the tug business and were also engaged in getting out timber for logs, boards and dock timber, and under contract built several docks in Marquette, including the Brown Stone, the water-works and the sawmill docks. In 1882 they retired from the lumber trade and entered the employ of the form of Charles Hibbard & Son, with whom he continued for a period of six years, engaged in towing logs.

"On coming to Sault Ste. Marie in 1887, Mr. Hursley engaged in the lightering business and general towing, and to this work devoted all his energies until the fall of 1893, when he received his appointment as Deputy Collector of Customs from Colonel Scully of Marquette. Fidelity to any trust reposed in him has always been one of his marked characteristics, and in the office which he is now filling he is alike faithful. In April, 1859. Mr. Hursley was united in marriage with mis Nancy Jordan [sic], the wedding being celebrated in Henderson, Jefferson county, New York. The lady is a daughter of John Jordan, of Canada, who served as a drummer boy in the war of 1812 in the British army, and was in the battle of Queenston Heights. He married Sarah Williams and they became parents of eight children, namely: Connot; Ann Eliza, wife of Richard Manders; John. James, George, all in Bay of Quinte, Canada; Jane, wife of John Miller, who is living in Oswego county, New York, and Mrs. Hursley. Mr. and Mrs. Hursley have been born but one child - Gertude - whop became the wife of Alfred Richards, of Sault Ste. Marie, and died May 15, 1893. Mr. Hursley is a member of the Masonic chapter of this city, which he joined in 1868."

Edward Ivan Harrison

He Had Long Been Prominent in Prince Edward

Picton Times

"There passes away from the community of Cressy life on Sept. 2nd, 1920, Edward Ivan Harrison, last surviving son of the late Archibald and Sarah Harrison. He was a man long known in this region as a farmer of competency in farm things and ability in general questions beyond the farm and fireside. Born in 1850 (August 30th) on the farm in Cressy now owned by H.H. Horsey, he was raised to manhood there on his father's place and taught the rudiments of that great industry that extracts from the soil the products which sustain the life of man and beast. He spent most of his three score years and ten on a farm in Cressy. There was, however, and interval of western adventure and enterprise. He took up a section of land near Brandon, built on it, and disposed of the place after a few years stay there. He thereupon settled down in Cressy and lived there with but short interruptions until his death.
"His last years were years of perplexity, struggling for several years against failing health and a peculiar malady of a nervous kind yet with a steadfast spirit full of faith and hope. Two years and three months of this time he spent upon his bed unable to get up. In spite of his distressful physical disability he maintained his spirit of humor and joviality, delighted to talk and visit with his neighbors and to exchange counsel and advice on familiar topics. He was of the temperament that could keep cheerful and hopeful under adversity. And at the very last he met the Grim Reaper with a smile that was frozen on his countenance by the icy hand of death. He possessed a mind of resourceful associations and he retained his mental alertness to the end. He was thus able to guide his farm work from the bedside and to bear up against "a sea of troubles" against adverse conditions that might well have made a lesser man succumb.

"He was a staunch churchman, one of the old guard of Cressy Methodism whose numbers are gradually thinning out with the lapse of years, making way for a new generation to take up the burden that they are laying down. In matters of political affiliation he was a firm supporter of Liberal politics and a great admirer of the leadership of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

"He leaves to mourn him a widow, Mrs. Ida Harrison, two sister, Mrs. W.Y. Boyd, Kingston, and Mrs. Catharine Hall, Utica, N.Y., also a niece whom he reared from infancy, and being a lover of the youth always he brought up three boys from childhood. He had a great host of friends who will think upon him with affection and regret, and drop a sigh about his grave as he lies in the peaceful slopes of Cressy churchyard."

Albert Rodway Injured.

An accident occurred on Friday at the Old Homestead factory, Picton, resulting in serious injuries to Albert Rodway, a farmer living in the Fish Lake neighborhood. Mr. Rodway has [sic] just finished unloading a load of corn and stepped out on the wagon tongue, it is supposed, to get a line that had fallen on the ground, In some way he fell between the horses and they became frightened, running away and dragging Mr. Rodway under the wagon. He was seriously bruised, the wheel running over him. Fortunately, the horses were stopped after running only a few rods, and Mr. Rodway released from the lines, in which hew had become entangled. He was rushed to hospital, and at last reports is recovering.
