The Windsor Star (Windsor, Ontario), 07 OCT 1967
Campney dies at 73 in B.C.

Ex-defence chief prominent lawyer.

Vancouver (CP) - Ralph Osborne Campney, 73, former Liberal defence minister in the St. Laurent government, died here Friday.

Mr. Campney had returned to his law firm of Campney, Owen and Campney after he lost his Vancouver Centre seat to the conservatives in the 1957 federal election.

He was first elected to the Commons in 1949, and served as solicitor-general before being named defence minister in 1954.

Mr. Campney was a voracious reader, his favorite subject being the American Civil War and the Lincoln era, on which he had a collection of some 200 volumes.

His chief enjoyment, however, was gardening. His evenings were occupied with tending flowers and shrubs at his Vancouver's Point Grey district overlooking the Strait of Georgia.

After his defeat in 1957, he continued to take some part in liberal affairs and correspond with some of his former colleagues, including Prime Minister Pearson.

But he was careful not to become too deeply involved in politics.

"Politics is a jealous mistress," he once remarked. "If you are not careful, it will take up more of your time than you bargained for."

Mr. Campney died in St. Vincent's Hospital here two days after an operation. His health had been failing for some time, and he suffered a stroke.

He is survived by his wife, Mary, and a son, Alan F. Campney. His first wife, Vera, died in 1961.

Mr. Campney, born near Picton, Ont., was called to the bar in Ontario in 1924 and in B.C. in 1929.

Mr. Campney joined the external affairs department shortly after his call to the bar, and served in Geneva.

Returning from Geneva, he became secretary to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and in 1930 left the government to set up his own law practice in Vancouver.
